Stephanie,

Thank you for sending this. I was looking over the Little Tokyo Vision Plan and wanted to share some pages I think is important to look at in terms of creating a comparable vision for the Civic Center. With this document, I can get a clear sense of how the spaces are organized in between the forms and how the uses are arranged to activate them. There is a clear hierarchy of open spaces and how they are connected by the paths. It would be interesting to layer the Civic space open space diagram to the open space system diagram in the LT Vision (second slide) to understand the overall circulation and open space network. I always say "if you get the planning and urban design right, the rest (designing the buildings) is easy."

Thanks,

Simon
